Who's going to dance with Sally Ann?

Johnny got married in his one good suit
But the ride from church bore strange fruit
Down by the road you could hear her cry
As he hung from a tree she watched him die

Sally attends every wedding round here
Looking for her Johnny dear
When wedding bells ring in this town
A ghostly virgin strolls the ground.

Darkened shadows cross the floor
As ghostly lovers dance once more
You can feel them in the room
When the fiddler places this tune
